3.1. Quarter four 2018
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Aerial fire – fighting operations in the metropolitan areas have been a weekly occurrence • The RFDS now have their first two PC24 jets at Jandakot Airport. • China Southern have recommenced flying training operations • Formation flights of vintage aircraft (Warbirds) are expected over ANZAC Day • There were 21 individual complainants during quarter four 2018. This is an increase from 17 complainants in quarter three 2018 and from 17 complainants in quarter four 2017
General Aviation Traffic
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The majority of complainants who raised the issue of General Aviation Traffic were concerned with either operations in the vicinity of the airport, or along VFR routes. • One complainant in Ocean Reef was concerned with Emergency services operations.
Helicopters
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Emergency services operations affected 71 percent of residents who raised this issue. These complainants were from various suburbs; Ballajura, Beelair, Jandakot, Perth, and Westminster. • Other complainants concerned with helicopters were affected by aircraft conducting airwork, one conducting a gas pipeline survey and the other with a media helicopter.
Suburbs
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Residents from 18 separate suburbs raised concerns during quarter four. • Only one suburb, Canning Vale, recorded more than one complainant.

- Canning Vale, which is situated adjacent to the airport, recorded four complainants. Canning Vale residents were equally concerned with including fixed wing circuit training and standard movements to and from the airport.

3.2. 2018 Overview

- There were 68 individual complainants in 2018. This is an increase from 65 complainants in 2017.
- General aviation traffic affected 46 percent of complainants in 2018. This compares to 40 percent of complainants raising this in 2017. The majority of complainants affected by general aviation activity were concerned with emergency services operations. Other complainants were affected by traffic either outside of controlled airspace, tracking via VFR routes or conducting airwork.
- Helicopters were a concern to 28 percent of the complainants with all but three of these concerned with emergency services operations. Emergency services operations were also the concern of all the complainants raising the issue of Night operations.
- Overall 55 percent of complainants were affected by emergency services operations, either helicopter or fixed wing operations. A breakdown of the issue of Emergency Services with a comparison to 2017 is provided in Chart 2 below.

Suburbs

- Complainants from 50 suburbs raised issues in 2018, with only one suburb recording five or more complainants. A single complainant was recorded for 42 suburbs.
- Canning Vale recorded the most complainants in 2018 and 2017, with eight complainants. Leeming recorded four complainants, while Bayswater and Rockingham each recorded three complainants.
- Canning Vale and Leeming are located next to the airport with 50 percent of these complainants concerned with circuit training by fixed wing aircraft. The other complainants from these suburbs were equally concerned with General aviation and Emergency services aircraft.
- Bayswater is located 10nm to the north of Jandakot Airport, with complainants concerned with emergency services operations and general aviation airwork. Rockingham is located 12 nm to the south of the Jandakot Airport and on the coast, with complainants concerned with aerobatic operations and emergency services operations.
